PROFILE

As former Senior Consultant for PriceWaterhouse Coopers and Sonderman Consulting moving multi-million-dollar complexed integrated SAP Implementation projects forward, under budget and meeting and exceeding deadline, energizes me.

I enjoy collaborating with teams and crossing the finish line together. The key to success is keeping one's mind in stressful situations. Knowing how to prioritize, listening to feedback and input, prioritizing, and synthesizing complex data points to make sound decisions are seasoned skills I have acquired over the last thirty years. I'm sensitive to family dynamics and the benefits of telling stories and holding memories close to the heart. My dissertation project focuses on digital storytelling.

I am a quick study of software. As a former database designer and SAP implementer, am able rapidly to learn software functionality how to marry user needs with product features.
