I have been involved with the arts for many years, particularly as a performance artist and teacher. My active years in this field were from 1996 to 2004 when I resided in Portland, OR, Seattle, WA and London, England. After deciding to start a family and shift my focus on professional development my artistic endeavours were put on pause, but I have always remained passionate about art and culture's ability to positively impact the community. Through my library work, I have continued to support creative engagement with programming and events. I see this commission as an opportunity and a duty to the community I reside in. I want to use my skills and experience as an artist/educator toward meaningful action to contribute to arts and culture in Reno and surrounding areas. I am excited to learn more about this commission and to explore how I can potentially be a part of it.
