Sierra Club is in full support of the Energy Partnership Agreement, and we would like to commend our sustainability manager, Suzanne Groneman, on this excellent agreement. We are thrilled to see that Reno and NV Energy are partnering to reduce energy use and greenhouse gas emissions in Reno, while improving reliability, resilience and equity associated with the electricity grid. We are especially excited to see the goal to expand community based renewable energy, and hope that this means many more community solar projects like the one at the Moana pool. We are also excited to see the expedited conversion of streetlights to LEDs, accelerated development of EV infrastructure, collaboration of energy benchmarking for buildings, conversion of older electrical infrastructure to improve reliability, and the agreement to seek equitable solutions in moving forward with these projects. Again, Sierra Club is in full support of this Energy Partnership Agreement, and hope that it will help move our city forward to a more sustainable future.

I urge the Reno City Council to take advantage of the opportunity to establish a City of Reno-Sierra Pacific partnership to support a shared vision toward energy-related emissions reductions which will help the city move closer to its stated pollution reduction targets. Working together to increase local renewable energy as well as improving reliability, resilience and designing equitable and accessible solutions is in accord with the City of Reno's Sustainability and Climate Action Plan.
