Education or training relevant to the board or commission to which you are applying:

My bachelor's degree is in anthropology, and I have taken a range of classes concerning museology and historic preservation. My master's degree is in journalism, and I have had the good fortune over the course of more than a decade to write about many issues concerning historical resources in Reno, including historical buildings and historical cultural resources. During that time, I have been honored to interview and build relationships with people whose work has been integral to historic preservation. These people include Debra Hinman, Neal Cobb, Jerry Fenwick, Barrie Lynn, Alicia Barber and many others. I am quite familiar with the operations of city government, having reported on them for many years. I also have established relationships with the people who operate the Nevada Historical Society and Special Collections at the University of Nevada, Reno. To see some of the writing and reporting I have done surrounding historic preservation in Reno, please see the following links to stories ranging from the restoration of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Fountain to the history of Chinese immigrants in Nevada: <https://www.newsreview.com/reno/content/house-divided/29903952/>

Explain briefly why you would like to be appointed to this board or commission.

I am well versed in archival research and am very passionate about documenting history and the responsible preservation of our city's historical resources as we continue to grow and develop into the 21st century. I love Reno, especially. I understand things like the arguments for why the Mapes was not able to be saved, but I loathed to see it destroyed, even though I was just a teen living in rural Nevada when it came down. My collection of Mapes memorabilia rivals almost anyone else's I know. My idea of a fun afternoon is settling down in the research library at the Nevada Historical Society to dig into a particular aspect of Reno's history that has piqued my interest or wandering around town with a copy of Neal Cobb and Jerry Fenwick's "Reno Now and Then" to look at its photos from the vantage points at which they were taken. Sitting on the historical resources commission would be a big responsibility but one for which I am sure I could rise to the occasion. I am a quick learner, a patient and focused listener and a deep believer in the value of Reno's fascinating history.
